Berghammer is 100% LEED Accredited!

Berghammer is pleased to announce its continued commitment to sustainable business practices. On March 31, 2008, Berghammer achieved 100% LEED Accreditation among all its project managers and estimators. Berghammer is the first general contractor in the state of Wisconsin to achieve this milestone. Over the past year, Berghammer established an incentive program for employees and conducted a number of training sessions to prepare employees and several architectural partners for the LEED accreditation examination administered by the U.S. Green Building Council. Moving forward, all new project management and estimating hires will be required to become LEED accredited within the first 6 months of employment. Berghammer is a proud member of the Wisconsin Green Building Alliance (WGBA) and the United States Green Building Council (USGBC). Being recognized as experts in sustainable construction techniques and methods is a priority for Berghammer. For more information, log on to www.berghammer.com.
